

Heat Wave Promises To Last Over Week End

Death Toll Mounts Toward 100 Mark—Humidity Adds to Fatalities—Ohio Cities Find Water Supply Running Low—Schools Hold Short Sessions—Mercury 100 at Washington.

Death tolls from the grilling heat oppressing all sections east of the Rocky Mountain states mounted today as June continued its unbroken record with no prospect of relief for several days.

Deaths from heat prostrations alone neared the hundred mark, while drownings and storm deaths claimed as many more.

Records for June temperatures topped in Illinois, Ohio and New York state. High relative humidity added to the dead lines of the unseasonal mid-summer marks.

Cleveland reported 23 deaths in Ohio, 10 were dead in Chicago and a like number in New York and New England, with other sections adding lesser numbers.

Washington, with the mercury at 100, had three dead; Pittsburgh nine; Michigan, four; New Jersey, two; Minnesota, Indiana and Iowa each had one death.

Continue Over Week End.

New York, June 5.—The torrid wave that for four days has enveloped the greater part of the nation, probably will continue over the week end, weather bureau officials here said today. The only cool spot in the east yesterday and last night, according to advices, was Buffalo. A "fresh" temperature of 77 there was due to a lake breeze.

The death toll here today stood at nine, with many prostrations. The maximum of 95 yesterday broke all weather bureau records for the date. Today threatened to be fully as warm as yesterday. At 10 a. m. the temperature was 83.

Predict Relief for Albany.

Albany, N. Y., June 5.—Some relief from the sweltering weather within the next few hours was predicted early today by the local weather bureau.

The heat claimed its first victim in Albany when Patrick Kelly, 54, a section hand on the New York Central, was found dead alongside the railroad tracks.

Single Sessions For Schools.

Binghamton, N. Y., June 5.—With two dead and two others prostrated as the temperature climbed to 98 degrees, the city today began strenuous efforts to prevent further heat casualties. All schools have been ordered to hold only brief sessions during the cooler morning hours and factories have started installing more cooling devices.

Cecil Hollister, 38, Johnson City, an employee of a candy factory in that suburb, collapsed and fell while at work and died in a hospital.

Harry L. Yeaton, 45, Boston, an employee of the United Shoe Machinery Company, died instantly while visiting the Johnston City office of that concern.

Jennie Bell and Mrs. Carrie Mier-Sch collapsed in the street. Both were revived and taken to their homes and another woman collapsed in a store, but later was taken to her home by policemen without giving her name.

With the mark of 98 degrees, a record for this time of year here, the weather bureau could only predict a continuance of heat.

Over 100 in Street.

Pittsburgh, Pa., June 5.—This city today had lost nine lives in the heat wave, with the weather forecast reporting no relief in sight.

At the weather bureau, atop a high building, the highest temperature recorded was 93 degrees, but down in narrow streets walked in by banks of tall buildings, temperatures went above 100 degrees.

Water Supply Runs Low.

Cleveland, Ohio, June 5.—With all records for June broken yesterday, when the mercury at 6 p. m. registered 93 degrees, Cleveland and all Ohio again today faced a continuance of the extreme temperature which has already claimed 23 lives in the state.

The water supply is running low in many cities.

Manchester with only 200,000 gallons left in its reservoir, faced a complete water famine in three days unless rains come.

Hundred Sleep Outdoors.

Porter, June 5.—With New England's death toll standing at ten the heat wave today continued its grip in this district.

Overcast skies in some sections brought some relief.

Two dead and seven prostrations were recorded in Greater Boston.

Hundred spent the night sleeping out of doors on Boston Common and the banks of the Charles and Mym rivers.

100 at Washington.

Washington, June 5.—The mercury hovered around 100 degrees today with the weather bureau forecasting

Shipyards Close Because of Heat

Thermometers Registered Well Over the Hundred Mark in the Sun and 94 Degrees in the Shade—Motorman Hannon Overcome—Shipyards Close.

Today was just about as hot as Thursday, although The Freeman thermometer read two degrees cooler at noon than it did on Thursday. At that time it read 96 degrees and today at the same time 94 degrees. The lowest temperature recorded during the night was 78 degrees.

Thursday afternoon while at his home on Brewster street, Motorman Tim Hannon of the Kingston City Division of the trolley road, was overcome by the heat. This is the reason his smiling face was not seen on the front of the trolley car today by his host of friends. It was stated, however, that his condition was not serious and he would shortly be back again at the "helm" of his trolley car.

Radio users report no indication of thunder storms in this vicinity and the weather man promises no relief or let up from the hot wave.

There was more humidity today than Thursday. There was little if any breeze during the morning hours but at noon a slight breeze blew up which made the weather a trifle more bearable.

Bath beach drew a large quota of those seeking to cool off Thursday evening and those who had automobiles spent the evening driving in an effort to stir up a breeze.

Considering the extreme heat but few prostrations from its effects are reported here.

At noon many of the shipyards along the Rondout creek closed down for the day owing to the oppressive heat.

Don'ts for the Hot Weather

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, June 5.—The following health don'ts for hot weather were listed today by health commissioner, Dr. Frank J. Monaghan:

"Don't overeat or overdrink. Drink at least 6 glasses of water, cooled but not iced, daily.

"Don't overwork.

"Don't wear heavy clothing.

"Don't fail to sleep with the windows open.

"Don't fail to bathe daily.

"Don't eat food that is not fresh."

First Drowning Here This Season

The first drowning of the 1925 season reported in Ulster county occurred Thursday evening, at Saugerties. The first victim of the summer sport was Milton Amrod, son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Amrod of Partition street, Saugerties.

Amrod, together with a large number of young people from Saugerties were swimming in the Saugerties creek and his struggle evidently did not attract the attention of the other bathers as his disappearance was not discovered until some time later in the evening. After his disappearance was reported the creek was dragged and at 4:30 o'clock this morning the body of the boy was located.

Amrod was sixteen years old and said to be a good swimmer. His father conducts a clothing store on Partition street, Saugerties.

Buy Charles Property.

The Sisters of St. Ursula of the Blessed Virgin of New York, who on May 22, purchased of Max Weiss and others the Walter B. Crane home- stead on East Strand and Abney streets, have purchased the adjoining property on Grove street of May S. Charles who has moved to New York.

Purchases an Auburn.

George Heider of Wall street has purchased an Auburn six sedan from Frank R. Schoonmaker, local distributor for the Auburn line.

Chicago Closes.

Chicago, June 5.—Chicago sizzled again today and every indication pointed to a new June record—95 degrees. Ten deaths were reported yesterday.

Estimate $120,000 Cost of Port Ewen Water System

Figures Submitted by Engineer Harder for Construction in Village, Slightburg Section and Polhemus Extension—Estimated Cost of Operation, $6,172.

Thursday evening a very enthusiastic meeting of the committee of seven of the Port Ewen Improvement Society to discuss the plans for the proposed water system for the villages of Port Ewen and Slightburg was held at the office of Town Clerk Lester O. Ferguson. In attendance were also Supervisor Roscoe Ellsworth and Judge Henry E. McKenzie, who were invited to review the estimates of cost.

Recently the committee was visited by H. J. Harder, a well known civil engineer of Paterson, N. J., who has had a large map of the water and fire districts made, and such exhibit is now in the hands of the committee and can be seen by the taxpayers.

The following estimate of the cost of installation and maintenance of the system has been submitted by Mr. Harder, covering the cost of installation in the several sections of the village which might be served by the system:

Water Committee, Port Ewen, N. Y.

Slightburg Section 16,859 50
Polhemus Extension 4,000 00
Total $109,431 50

Port Ewen Village.

Interest on $88,572.00 at 5 per cent $4,300 00
Estimated annual cost of electric power 1,100 00
Depreciation on pumping machinery 219 00
Oil and miscellaneous supplies 30 00
One man part time as operator 500 00
Total $6,172 00

There are about two hundred and ten houses, on the streets where water mains are shown on the plan in Port Ewen Village, of which one hundred and ninety would undoubtedly connect with and take water from the water system.

Twenty-four dollars a year for a one family house is a fair charge for water for domestic use and thirty dollars a year for each fire hydrant in the usual credit allowed a water system for fire protection.

If a water system is established and fire protection provided the usual decrease in insurance rates would be allowed and a considerable saving thereby made for owners of buildings and personal property.

A conservative estimate of the value of buildings and personal property in Port Ewen Village is placed at $1,000,000.00. The insurance on this valuation at $7.50 for each $1,000.00 would amount to $7,500.00, which would be reduced to $5,000.00 if fire protection is provided a saving of $2,500.00 for the usual three year policies, or $833.33 a year.

Annual revenue for the use of water from domestic consumers for 100 houses at $24.00 a year for each one family house $2,400 00

Annual saving on insurance $833 33

Mrs. Post Given $3,000 Verdict

In Her Suit Against Leroy E. DeVall of Mt. Tremper in Supreme Court in Newburgh.

It took a jury in Supreme court before Justice Arthur S. Tompkins in Newburgh a comparatively short time to assess the damages in the action brought by Willis E. Post and Viola K. Post, his wife of Balmville, against Leroy E. DeVall, of Mt. Tremper, Wednesday afternoon. Mr. DeVall was sued for $20,000 and $10,000 damages resulting from an automobile collision at the Aspetong turn on the Vails Gate road on September 11, 1923. The jury gave Mrs. Post $3,000 and awarded her husband $654. Charles W. U. Sneed appeared for the plaintiffs and Henry Hirschberg for the defendants.

Killian; treasurer, Mrs. M. Tatarzewski.

Credit for 56 hydrants at $30.00 a year each 1,680 00

Total $ 7,073 33

Estimated annual cost of operation 6,735 00

Profit, benefit and credit 338 33

Port Ewen village:

Interest on $114,859.50 estimated cost for Port Ewen Village and the Slightburg Section $ 5,742 98
Estimated annual cost of electric power 1,300 00
Depreciation on pumping machinery 250 00
Oil and miscellaneous supplies 30 00
One man part time as operator 500 00
Estimated annual cost $7,822 98

There are about two hundred and fifty houses in Port Ewen Village and the Slightburg Section, on streets where water mains are shown on the plan, of which two hundred and twenty-five are estimated would connect with and take water from the water system.

Estimated value of buildings and personal property in Port Ewen village and the Slightburg section is placed at $1,250,000.00, and with a one-third reduction in insurance there would be a saving of $1,041.66 annually.

Annual revenue from domestic consumers for 225 houses at $24.00 a year for each one family house $5,400 00

Annual saving on insurance 1,041 66

Credit for 71 hydrants at $30.00 a year each 2,130 00

Total $ 8,571 66

Estimated annual cost of operation 7,822 98

Profit, benefit and credit 748 66

Polhemus extension, including Port Ewen Village and the Slightburg section.

Interest on $120,859.50 estimated cost for Port Ewen Village, Slightburg Section and the Polhemus Extension $ 6,043 00
Estimated annual cost of electric power 1,340 00
Depreciation on pumping machinery 260 00

Estimated annual cost of operation $ 8,173 00

There are about two hundred and sixty houses in Port Ewen Village, the Slightburg Section and along the Polhemus Extension of which two hundred and thirty-four are estimated would take water from the water system.

Estimated value of buildings and personal property in Port Ewen Village, the Slightburg Section and along the Polhemus Extension is placed at $1,300,000.00, and with a one-third reduction in insurance there would be an annual saving of $1,083.33.

Annual revenue from domestic consumers for 234 houses at $24.00 a year for each one family house $5,616 00

Annual saving on insurance 1,083 33

Credit for 73 hydrants at $30.00 a year each 2,190 00

Total $ 8,824 33

Estimated annual cost of operation 8,173 00

Profit, benefit and credit 651 33

The cost of constructing the proposed water system is secured liberally and the estimates of operating expenses and earnings are as nearly correct as can be ascertained before it is definitely known the amount of water that will be pumped and consumed.

Respectfully submitted,
H. J. HARDER,
Civil Engineer.

Phoenix Players Plan Playhouse At Woodstock

Miniature Theatre Will Be Devoted to Production of Famous Plays Prior to Their Presentation in New York—Ulster County People Co-operate.

Announcement is made that plans have been completed to bring to the people of Kingston and the surrounding neighborhoods a real "Little Theatre" for the production of the legitimate drama this summer. The Phoenix Players, conceived and organized along the same lines as the famous Moscow Art Players, are now constructing their artistic little playhouse with a seating capacity of 150 at Woodstock, and will be prepared for the opening performance of their first production, "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde, on Saturday evening, July 4th.

It is the plan of the Phoenix Players to make this "experimental theatre" a permanent institution in Woodstock for the purpose of trying out the best modern as well as classical dramas prior to their presentation in New York. It is their theory that the present method of trying out plays for a week in Atlantic City is unnecessarily expensive and that the "tryout" does not reach as critical and appreciative an audience as it would in this community, which has become widely known as an artistic center.

The young men who are doing the pioneer work in the development of this enterprise, Ben Webster and Stanley H. Howe, are both former summer residents of Woodstock, and Mr. Webster, who is director of the Phoenix Players, has lived with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert L. Webster, at Byrdcliffe for over twenty years. Albert L. Webster is well known throughout the United States as a foremost consulting engineer, and his son, Ben Webster, has attained marked success as a stage director in New York, having served in that capacity for Marjorie Rambeau in "As You Like It," for Odus Skinner in "Sancho Panza," as well as for the Greenough Players in Philadelphia, Elitch's Theatre in Denver, and many others.

For the castes of their plays the Phoenix Players will have the best professional talent, mustered from the various New York successes which have been closed for the summer. Among them will be Philip Leigh, who has been playing the leading part in "The Wild Duck" this season; Eustace Wyatt, who has been playing with George Arliss in "Old English;" Haroldine Humphreys of "The Miracle;" and "Candida;" Rose Hobart of "Caesar and Cleopatra;" and "The Lullaby;" and Ann Walters of "The Lullaby."

Stanley Howe, who is associated with Mr. Webster in the management of the Phoenix Players, was formerly business manager of the Cherry Lane Players in New York, and had charge of the successful financial campaign which raised a half million dollars for the Actors' Fund of America.

The three plays which have been selected by the Phoenix Players for this summer are "The Importance of Being Earnest," by Oscar Wilde; "Foul is Fair," by Myra Mannes, and the brilliant comedy, "The Mistress of the Inn," by Goldoni, which has been played in Italian by Madame Duse and in Russian by the Moscow Art Players, but has never been heard in English in this country.

The audience for this interesting series of dramas will be composed of subscribing members of the Phoenix Players. To welcome this intellectual and artistic project and to co-operate in its development, a committee of one hundred is being formed among prominent women of Kingston, Woodstock and other nearby communities. Mrs. Birge Harrison is chairman of the committee and Miss Sara Horton, vice-chairman. A few of the other representative women are Mrs. G. D. B. Hasbrouck, Mrs. William D. Brinley, Mrs. Elsa Knauth, Miss Helen Westbrook, Mrs. John D. Schoonmaker, Mrs. R. R. Whitehead, Mrs. Cornelius Sullivan, Miss Alice Wardwell and Mrs. Walter West.

Members of the committee are arranging a series of meetings at various homes to discuss the aims and ideals of the Phoenix Players and to cooperate in their undertaking. The first of these meetings will be held at the home of Mrs. Birge Harrison on Friday, June 12.

Wiltwyck Chapter Holds Annual Meeting

Numerous Activities of Daughters of the American Revolution Reviewed in Reports of Historian and Other Officers—Chapter to Celebrate Flag Day—Will Attend Hudson Valley Council Picnic.

The annual meeting of Wiltwyck Chapter, D. A. R., was held at the Chapter House on Thursday afternoon, Mrs. Van Hoesen, the retiring regent, presiding during the first part of the meeting. Resolutions on the death of Mrs. Jennie Sahler and Mrs. John E. Ryder were presented by Mrs. A. A. Zabriskie.

An invitation was received from the Hudson Valley Council of D. A. R. to meet with Quassak Chapter, D. A. R., at Knox headquarters, Newburgh, on Saturday, June 27th. The Regents' Council will be at 11 o'clock; the basket luncheon at 1 p. m. and the program will begin at 2:30 p. m. Motorist should take the New York state road to Vail's Gate. Busses will leave the bus station at the Newburgh ferry every half hour and Cornwall and Goshen busses pass the headquarters.

Wiltwyck Chapter members are asked to notify the new regent, Mrs. T. D. Lewis, of their intention of accepting the invitation before June 22.

Following the reports of the officers, Mrs. Marcus A. Weed gave a report of the visit of Mrs. Broadhead and herself to Kenmore at the time of the festivities marking the presentation of the home of George Washington's sister to the government.

Mrs. Oscar Edwards told interestingly of the work for Tammany and the Philippines scholarship.

Registrar's Report.

The report of the registrar, Mrs. Scott was as follows:

We have enrolled at the present 213 members. During the year we lost three by death, Mrs. M. J. Michael, Mrs. Jane Sahler and Mrs. John Ryder. One was transferred to Saugerties chapter. Ten new members have been added, one reinstated. Three transfers to us have been accepted, Mrs. S. B. Ayre from membership at large and Mrs. H. J. Pratt, from the Poughkeepsie Chapter, Mrs. Wesley Ellis from membership at large.

During the year I have written 30 letters, 15 post cards, two reports, two transfers and copied three sets of papers. There is now one set of papers at Washington waiting for approval.

Mrs. Kathryn C. Wood, corresponding secretary, reported having written 26 letters and sent an alphabetical list of the members of Wiltwyck Chapter to the Sons of the American Revolution headquarters in New York city.

An excellent and inspiring report concerning the Americanization work carried on by the chapter in this city was given by Miss Edith Holmes, chairman of the Americanization committee.

The report of Miss Marie Antoinette Du Bois, chairman of the historical and literary reciprocity committee, was also full of interest as showing what that committee had accomplished.

Historic Spots.

Mrs. Virgil B. Van Wagoner, chairman of the preservation of historic spots committee, reported as follows:

There are many places throughout the state worthy of careful protection but no part perhaps more replete with Revolutionary history than the following:

Kingston the first state capital is only the threshold of a very interesting region of which the historic importance is not generally known. This is the Rondout Neversink Valley which reaches from the Hudson river at Kingston to the Delaware at Port Jervis.

The road traversing this valley is an ancient highway, first used by the Indians which reaching the Delaware river heads on into Pennsylvania.

"Washington's right hand man," General George Clinton, first governor of New York, kept the Dewitt Mills at Greenkill a few miles south of Kingston, running at top speed to supply the army and devoted patriots to this valley, there were very few Tories here who supplied the army.

It is claimed that the people of Rondout Neversink Valley were able to keep Washington's army clothed and fed during the trying middle period of the war when the outcome was so uncertain. These famous Dewitt Mills are falling into ruin—occupied by Italians.

In Hurley the Spy House where the state government resolved into a committee of safety held some of their meetings after the burning of Kingston. A few miles beyond Hurley the committee of safety also had meetings in the Oliver House in Marlborough and alongside this historic house is a cemetery which has a number of 17th century gravestones showing that there must have been a large settlement here in early times.

Near Marlborough is the old Bestor House, enlarged in last century but not much modernized. It contains a library of ancient books which the family brought over from France, when they fled to escape persecution. At Stone Ridge, beyond Marlborough, is an interesting old house, containing Dutch tiles and other relics where Washington spent the night on a journey to Kingston. Across the road is the Sarah Flack or "Sally Tocks" Inn, where his officers were quartered when he stayed with Col. Wyncoop. This former inn is believed to be very old. The rear part of the Wyncoop House is probably older than the main portion.

After Stone Ridge one enters the region of border warfare. There are occasional "fort houses" left which were rallying places for a neighborhood and were loop-holed for defense. One still standing, the old Hardenburgh House near Kerhonkson, where the records were kept. This old house so plain on outside has handsome interior, with framed ceilings and paneled walls, is near Kerhonkson, in a fine location with stream winding round in front of it. At Nanapanoch are the old Dewitt houses. One of Egbert Dewitt's still stands.

On through the Neversink Valley it continues to be interesting even to Fort Jervis, where an old fort house which was attacked by Tories and Indians led by Joseph Brant at the time of the battle of Neversink. This fort has been marked by the Daughters but unfortunately they have been unable to put it in repair, the owner refusing to sell at a reasonable figure.

Historian's Report.

A report that is always of peculiar interest to the Chapter and friends is that of the historian and Mrs. Childs, the historian, told of the Chapter's activities during the past year as follows:

Recently there was published a definition of history, which read as follows: "History is a narrative of events by man, who does not personally know them, compiled from writings of other persons, probably misinformed."

Unfortunately (or fortunately) this definition cannot be applied by any D. A. R. historian, for Wiltwyck Chapter know the events of their own year's work, and no one whom they appoint as historian can in any wise "slip anything over on them."

But when we are in the midst of activities, our real accomplished work is so mixed with the machinery of getting it accomplished, that at the end of the year it is a great satisfaction to sift out the records and see what things distinguished the last year from those previous. We all know this past year has been very worth while, so I will endeavor to review the activities in the order of their happening:

At our May meeting in 1924, your former historian suggested that as many of us as possibly could, attend the historical pageant to be given at New Paltz. It was to be a link in the chain of the Huguenot-Walloon Tercentenary celebrations, and both the Normal School and the town of New Paltz had been working on it for months.

Accordingly, on the 3rd of June, 1924, a good many of us went over to our neighboring town, and found the pageant all that it had been advertised to be. The entire history of the town was portrayed, beginning with the fearful struggles with the Indians.

I am sure all of us who watched it experienced keener appreciation of the privations and struggles which our early ancestors endured in order to survive. And when we saw the first settlers arrive in ox carts, we were given a vivid realization of the blessings of travel which we now enjoy. The costume was historically accurate throughout, and was delightfully picturesque against the charming out-of-door setting, with the late afternoon shadows on the meadows, and pale blue mountains in the background.

To return to the May meeting, another item of interest was the final report on the clock which was given to Tammany. The total contributions amounted to $148.50. Both Mrs. Frederick and Mrs. Edwards read letters of thanks which they had received from Tammany. This year we voted to give $200 annually toward the maintenance fund of Tammany.

The first part of the June meeting was given to the announcement of several gifts to our chapter house—an oil painting from Mrs. Rosta, a silver teapot from Miss Harriet Case, a remarkable scrap book made by the late Mrs. Mary H. Northam, and a new book that has been published on the New York Chapters of D. A. R.

On the 21st of June, nearly all of us sallied forth to Saugerties, to the beautiful home of Mrs. Spalding—there to enjoy the gardens and river, the picnic lunch in the grove, and a fine afternoon program. The entire council of the Hudson River, D. A. R., were well represented, and after reports from the local chapters, we were given an address by the guest.

A New School Site for Modena

At a special school meeting held Tuesday evening in school district No. 4 Plattekill, Modena, the voters and friends of public school education assembled in large numbers to take action on a new school house site for a new school building.

The school grounds were nearly filled with automobiles and many were parked along the side road, and a splendid spirit prevailed. A new site was designated and the purchase price for the same voted for, almost unanimously. The trustee was authorized to secure title and pay the purchase price, which had been previously agreed upon between a committee and the owner.

The new site contains two and a quarter acres of level meadow land, well drained, and located near the center of the district geographically, and also near the center of population and accessible to all parts of the district. District Superintendent John C. Gillette approved the site on behalf of the state education department and also addressed the meeting.

The meeting was called to order by the trustee, H. H. Black, Justice George Dunsinborie was chosen chairman, Joseph Hasbrouck, Jr., was clerk and presented the resolutions designating the site and the appropriations. The tellers were: Edward Harney and Peter Smith. The people of Modena have reason to feel proud of the action of this meeting in providing an adequate and suitable school site for a new building and a place for the recreation of the children of the community.

A resolution was also unanimously adopted inviting other school districts in the surrounding territory to join with them in creating an enlarged school district.

Grim Relics of Fight of Long Centuries Ago

Many indeed have been the revelations of archeology concerning "Unhappy, far-off things and battles long ago." But British explorations at Jericho—the Carthage of Jericho's prophecy—old a tragic tale with unusual clearness. Some fine limestone blocks projecting from a cutting of the Bagdad railway first aroused scientific curiosity, and excavation quickly showed that they formed the rear wall of a fine, spacious villa.

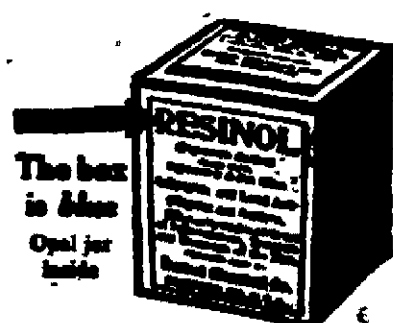

At no great depth under the surface the men encountered a thick stratum of burned ashes. There was no trace of later construction, and the site, which was the most commanding in the outer town, would hardly have been left unoccupied while Carthage was a city; so the excavators assumed that the fire that destroyed the house was that which swept the whole place about 600 B. C. Very soon the assumption received startling confirmation, says the Youth's Companion.

Outside the walls they found a few bronze arrow heads; on the porch there were a number of them, and on the floor of the rooms under the ashes arrow heads of bronze and iron turned up in hundreds, and with them lance points and broken sword blades and men's bones and all the signs of a fierce struggle. Always the weapons lay thickest in front of room doors, and there the arrow heads were often bent or broken, as if from striking against the bronze casing of the door timbers. It needed but little imagination to follow the fight as the defenders were driven back from room to room until they were overwhelmed at the last.

Near by was found a beautiful Greek shield bearing a Medusa's head of the finest workmanship. How came such an object among the ruins of Carthage, which was destroyed in the same campaign in which Gaza fell? Wise scholars remembered that Herodotus mentions spoils from Gaza, dedicated by Pharaoh Necho at the Temple of Apollo at Branchidae in honor of the Ionian mercenaries who served in his ranks. The excavations at Jericho have led perhaps to more important results, but to none more dramatic than this, which brings together in one burnt and ruined house at Carthage two writers so far removed from each other as Herodotus and Jeremiah—the Greek "Father of History" and the Jewish prophet.

First Playing Cards

Our present-day cards—at least a close resemblance to them—were designed in 1382 by Jacques Originaire, court painter to Charles VI of France, who had lost his reason. Originaire founded his pack on a regular system.

Be sure to get real Resinol

If you want to get rid of eczema, pimples, or other skin conditions, you will accept no "substitute" for Resinol. Preparations similar in name or appearance are not "just the same as Resinol." Although a few unscrupulous dealers may offer them as or for Resinol, they are often cruder made, of less healing power, and some may even be dangerous to use. Buy in the original Resinol package. Resinol is never sold in bulk.

KINGSTON, N. Y., JUNE 5, 1925

DEFENSE DAY AND JULY 4.

Criticism of the War Department's proposal to convert Armistice Day, which symbolizes peace, into Defense Day, which implies preparation for possible war, has led President Coolidge to withhold his approval of that proposal and to suggest that the Fourth of July would be "a more appropriate date" for the Defense Day observance. Mr. Coolidge leaves the question open, however, and it is assumed that he would like to hear from the country. As it is said that more than 16,000,000 persons participated and that there were 6,535 local demonstrations on September 12 last year, the first Defense Day would appear to have been successful enough at the start to warrant its continuance as a separate celebration.

Why seek to merge it into any other celebration? Armistice Day has a distinctive character of its own, as suggested above. The same may be said of the Fourth of July. The Fourth has lost its old more or less belligerent significance, now that the United States has fought side by side with Great Britain to save free institutions, and to associate it anew with the calling out of troops might tend to revive ancient animosities now far better forgotten. Moreover, the Fourth has long been mainly a day of outdoor recreation, with everybody at play, and it may well be doubted whether, in the face of this obstacle, Defense Day could achieve its aim as fully as on another, separate date. If we must have a Defense Day, it would seem to be wiser as well as more appropriate to fix upon a separate date of its own.

WHAT AMUNDSEN IS DOING.

There seems to be no longer any doubt that some disaster has befallen Amundsen. It is thought that one or both of his planes may have crashed in attempting a landing near the Pole and naturally there is speculation as to what he has done or is doing in the event of such or like disaster leaving his party or a part of it still alive. Amundsen himself, in anticipation of possible trouble, made the following statement after his arrival at King's Bay:

"The distance from the Pole to the depot already established on Cape Columbia is about 437 miles. With provisions sufficient for six weeks and taking twelve miles as the average day's march, we should be well on the safe side. North of latitude 85 degrees we could not hope to take out our stores by shooting anything, but south of that we should be able to do so at that time of year if necessary."

Assuming that disaster has occurred, what a change in the exploring party's fortunes! Only a few days ago they were riding swiftly and at ease in the blue, masters of a marvelous power developed by twentieth century civilization. Now they might as well be in the eighteenth century or the tenth, for the new power has failed them and they must toil slowly over frozen wastes dependent only on the primitive resources known to the pioneers of old, doomed to plodding back-breaking labor and even to a ceaseless combat to hold the terrible "white death" at arm's length. The startling contrast brings grim reminder that the element of untamed nature will defy the genius and invention of man.

Referring to the publication in England of a dictionary of soldiers' slang, the Providence Journal notes that among American doughboys "all company chaplains were 'Chaps'—just why nobody recalls. Doubtless it was because Charles is the given name of the only Chaplain who had won their affectionate regard."

According to the venerable Chauncey M. Depew, "The business men and bankers of the world are the new ruling forces and their powers grow day by day." Soap-box orators say the same, the only difference being that they vigorously object while he serene no reason to view the new order with alarm.

The most surprising bit of theatrical news is that David Belasco will train Jackie Coogan for three years and then star him as Hamlet, held at New York.

And it is said to be a fact, not a joke. Well, ours is said to be the age of youth and Jackie is a marvel for his years.

Both houses of the Michigan legislature have passed a whipping-post bill, the lower house with an amendment excluding women. Delaware has dealt with certain offenders in this way from time out of mind, and very successfully.

That Body of Yours

REST.

In a former article I spoke of a chap whom I had attempted to build up by plenty of sleep, two or three raw eggs, and a quart of milk a day, in addition to his regular meals, and some light outdoor exercise. His rate of increase was so slow, however, that he had tried out another physician, and his increase in weight was remarkable.

What had he done? Eaten eighteen to twenty raw eggs and six quarts of milk each day.

This shows the value of milk and eggs as builders, particularly after the body has been worn down by infection, or severe stomach or intestinal trouble.

However, this system does not work out with everybody. Syphon soda is often helpful when milk does not agree. There are other factors which enter into this matter of increasing weight that must be carefully considered. If after taking the ordinary amount of exercise, the thin person would rest more, then it would be possible for him to acquire a little extra tissue also.

The thin healthy individual, working in the outdoor air, and acquiring a real natural appetite, will attain an increase in muscular tissue that will stay with him, and be worth more to him than just a little fat tissue. However, if he would learn to take "rest" periods, it would be a great boon to him.

I have in mind a business man who rented a small office adjoining his own, in which he has placed a couch and easy chair. He lies down before lunch for ten minutes, and goes off into a doze. After lunch he sits and reads in the easy chair, and sometimes dozes for fifteen or twenty minutes. At 4 o'clock in the afternoon he lies down again for a full half hour. He rests again before and after his evening meal.

His digestive apparatus thus gets a chance to get in real work in absorbing the full nourishment from the food.

Rest then counts largely in attaining weight. Not only that the lack of movement preserves the tissues, but also it enables the digestive apparatus to do better work.

The Boers surrendered Pretoria to Lord Roberts in 1900.

FITCH'S STEAMBOAT.

John Fitch's steamboat (Pioneer) made its first trip on the Delaware river as a passenger and freight craft from Philadelphia to Trenton, 135 years ago today. It was propelled by a dozen oars worked by steam and ran eighty miles against wind and tide in 15 hours. This boat made regular trips for about months, covering 2,000 miles in all.

Fitch gained no profit and little fame from his invention, and died in extreme poverty. The first successful elevated railway in the world, the Sixth Avenue line in New York, was opened to travel 47 years ago today. Incidentally, the section from 53rd to 59th street was removed recently, to the great joy of the residents and business people located in the section made gloomy and dark by the structure. The "L" structure from Third Avenue to the Grand Central Station was also removed about the same time.

ARNAUDE DE NOGAS.

One of the daughters of Chyriotes, who after the taking of Nicotia in 1570, was carried away by the Turks and held in captivity. Arnaude, destined by her beauty for the seraglio of the sultan, was, with several of her companions, put into a vessel to sail for Constantinople. But preferring death to dishonor, the heroic maiden contrived in the dead of night to convey fire to the powder room and perished amidst the wreck of the vessel along with the victims of her desperation.

TWENTY AND TEN YEARS AGO.

June 5, 1905.—George Smith and Miss Kate Smith married at Saugerties.

June 5, 1915.—The new motor are truck purchased by the board of fire commissioners was given a thorough test here.

A Gymkhana was held at Athletic Field under auspices of Circle of Henry B. and was a decided success. Annual field day and play picnic of rural schools of Ulster county held at New Paltz.

WHY

Ancient Timepieces Were Expensive Affairs

Across the street lives an ancient timepiece, tall and dark, with narrow lines of checkered inlay. It was made in 1806 for one General Mower, a citizen of sterling worth, as they used to say. The general bought the face, weight and pendulum in Boston, paying $65 for them. Mr. Cheney of Windsor made the brass works—$25 more—and John Dana of Woodstock built the case, adding $35 to the cost. One hundred and twenty-five dollars altogether, you see, a large sum indeed for those bygone days, and one that I couldn't at all account for until I discovered that brass weights and works came chiefly from England, and that the Nicholson resolution of 1806 positively prohibited their importation.

Still, such clocks must always have been costly; as far back as the less expensive year of 1780, 21 pounds "in hard money" was paid for a grandfather's clock, a financial fact that makes you wonder why collectors today object to expending only a little more for such antique treasures. They really are bargains! Last month, at a country auction, one was sold for $180, and some people thought the price high. And yet it probably cost nearly as much when it first was made.

You know, it was said that it was the very high price of these brass works which originally inspired Connecticut clock makers to whittle their works out of hardwood. Eli Terry deserves the credit for this ingenious economy, but the method was soon adopted by many craftsmen, so many, indeed, that if the old label has been lost in the various vicissitudes of repairing, an attic residence and bandying about from owner to owner, it is a little difficult to say just who fashioned a particular clock.—Alice Van Leer Carrick in McNaught's Monthly.

Why Spectacles Should Be Carefully Fitted

Poorly fitted spectacles sometimes lead to cancer, says Hygeia, popular health magazine published by the American Medical Association.

Four cases of tumors developing where badly-fitted glasses have irritated the skin have been reported in New Haven, Conn., within recent years. The places where spectacles usually produce constant bruising of the skin are the bridge of the nose, the sides of the bridge near the inner angle of the eye, the temples and at the back of the ears.

There is no indication that spectacles of the "pinch-on" type are any more likely to cause such rubbing than are those that have ear pieces, says Hygeia. In any event, the possibility of such irritations resulting disastrously should be borne in mind and ill-fitting glasses should be corrected.

Why the "Sooner State"

The nickname, the Sooner State, was given to Oklahoma, because of events connected with its settlement. The proclamation of President Harrison setting the date for the formal opening of Oklahoma to settlement under the homestead law of the United States was eagerly awaited by prospective settlers throughout the West. Throngs of people assembled along the borders. Certain of these persons disregarded the conditions set forth in the rules prescribed for the opening of the land and, sliding the troops patrolling the border, they slipped through and concealed themselves at points conveniently near the best land, so that they would not have far to go when the legal hour of opening arrived. These people were called "sooners."

Why Fear Curdles Blood

Dr. H. G. Barbour of the University of Louisville, Ky., says fear actually curdles the blood and further thickens the blood both of animals and humans. A mechanism for measuring the thickness of the blood has enabled him to determine that excitement or fear has caused the blood to become approximately 10 per cent more concentrated. Dr. Chauncey D. Leake of the University of Wisconsin has devised a substance from bone marrow and spleen that increases the number of red corpuscles. He has applied his theory to cases of secondary anemia with some success.

Why Stars Are Invisible

Stars are not visible during the day because the superior light of the sun and its reflected rays from objects on the earth is so strong as to obliterate the tiny rays from stars so that they make no impression on the retina of the eye. At the bottom of a shaft or very tall chimney where no light enters and the direct rays of sunlight are cut off, the retina registers the rays from the stars and hence they become visible.

Why Is a Bachelor

"Uncle Tom," said his young nephew to an old bachelor, "tell me about some of the narrow escapes you've had from the women."

"Boy," was the response, "if there was any narrow escapes, the women had 'em."—Farm and Fireside.

Why Snow Is White

Snow is white because the crystals are so minute that each individual crystal reflects a general impression produced by the combination of different wave lengths reflected from innumerable minute facets.

Daddy's Evening Fairy Tale

BY MARY GRAHAM BONNER

ONE-EYED SPONGE

Little Eugene, as you may remember, loved to sleep. In that way he was different from many children, for while everyone likes to sleep some of the time Eugene always enjoyed going to bed.

He simply loved to sleep. He liked to take a nap, too. He went to sleep very quickly.

Sometimes he would be speaking and in the middle of a sentence he would stop and you would find that he had gone to sleep.

Not only that, but sometimes he would go to sleep before he had finished a word.

For example, he might be saying: "I hope it will be a fine day tomorrow so I can go swimming," and he would leave the word swimming right in the middle.

Or perhaps he would not even get that far but would say: "I hope it will be a fine day tomorrow," and before you knew it he was asleep and sometimes he was snoring!

Now little Eugene owned a sponge which was made of rubber but in a shape to look like a little man. Around the rubber sponge man's waist was a belt of white rubber, and he had white rubber eyes with large blue pupils—also of rubber.

When Eugene took his bath he used this sponge.

One night Eugene fell asleep in his bath which was a very dangerous thing to do and he was told that he must never, never, never allow himself to do that. He had been discovered before any harm had come. When he was taking his bath he must take it and not lean back against the back of the tub to doze.

He must do nothing but take his bath when it was bath time.

Of course he was so fond of sleep he would sometimes try to get out of taking his bath.

Not that he didn't like to be clean. But sometimes he didn't think it mattered if he missed a night or maybe two, or even three, or possibly—I hate to say it—four.

That didn't happen often but quite often it was two and very often one that he missed.

He used to think how much nicer it was to go right to bed and curl his hands under his chin and sleep and sleep.

When he would simply wash his hands and face and not pay any attention the little rubber sponge would look at him out of its rubber eyes, a really very sad look.

"You don't mean to say you're going to leave me alone tonight," those eyes would seem to say.

Eugene couldn't stand the look the rubber sponge man gave him.

He didn't want to hurt the rubber sponge man for that would spoil his looks.

His eyes were the most important part of him, though of course he had arms and a body shaped to look like real arms and a real body, although it was all a part of the sponge.

But the eyes were the main part of the rubber sponge man.

Still those eyes did look at Eugene so when he didn't take a bath.

He decided he would take out just one eye. So he pulled one eye from the rubber sponge man.

But the next night that one eye stared at him just as hard as the two had done before.

Eugene simply had to take a bath. He couldn't stand that look.

He would hurry through his bath and not take so long over it, but when he only did his back in a very back-hearted fashion the one eye seemed to be looking at him.

"You didn't do that very well, and here I am to help you," the eye seemed to say.

So Eugene would do it much better.

The eye seemed to stare at him in just this way to make him wash properly.

"Really," said Eugene to the one-eyed rubber sponge man, "you're not a task master but you're a bath master, that's what you are."

And the one-eyed sponge man seemed to wink very quickly, just once, for in another second it was the same steady eye as before.

Indian Means of Travel

by J. CARROLL MANSFIELD

BEFORE THE COLONISTS CAME TO AMERICA THERE WERE NO ROADS AND THE INDIAN TRAVELLED ON FOOT OVER ROUGH TRAILS THROUGH THE WILDERNESS. WHERE THERE WAS NO TRAIL HE WAS GUIDED BY THE SUN BY DAY AND THE STARS BY NIGHT.

ANOTHER MODE OF TRAVEL WAS ON THE RIVERS IN LIGHT CANOES. THESE WERE BUILT OF A LIGHT FRAME OF WOOD OVER WHICH WAS STRETCHED THE BARK OF THE BIRCH TREE.

THEY SOMETIMES MADE A CANOE OR DUG OUT FROM A SINGLE TREE—THIS WAS FOLLOWED OUT BY

WHENEVER A VISITOR WAS RECEIVED IN A FRIENDLY FASHION BY THE INDIANS HE WAS GIVEN THE CALUMET OR 'PEACE PIPE' TO SMOKE. THE SMOKE OF THE 'PEACE PIPE' WAS ALSO USED TO BIND TREATIES WITH THE SETTLERS.

SUGGESTIONS

Keep a dish of lime in the ice chest, or a few lumps of charcoal, to absorb the odors and keep the air sweet.

Use the oil of citronella around you if troubled with mosquitoes and other biting insects. Pennyroyal is another good oil.

If troubled with ants, sprinkle tartar emetic around the places where they seem to enter. It is a poison, so keep it away from food and pets.

Line bureau drawers with wall paper and cover the bandboxes with dashing colors in stripes. They will look as smart as the expensive boxes bought at the milliners.

When making jelly dip a leaf of rose geranium into the hot jelly, to give the delightful rose flavor to the finished jelly. When making layer cake, put a few leaves on a cloth and turn the fresh hot cake over them. The cake will be delicately flavored and scented.

In placing bird bones it is well to remember the tastes of different birds. The wrens like their tiny homes not more than twelve feet from the ground, while the martin likes apartments twenty feet from the ground.

Never cook fresh fish in water before cooking. Dress it and wrap in a clean cloth and keep cold. Laying in water softens the fish and destroys the flavor, this is true of any fish, fresh or frozen.

Use a small safety pin for a bodkin if one is not at hand, to draw the ribbons through one's lingerie.

If shoes pinch, dip a cloth into hot water and apply to the spot that pinches. The hot water expands the leather and helps to remove the tightness.

If troubled with an enlarged joint, use a small V-shaped pad between the great toe and the second one, having the point of the V come at the root of the toes. This throws the joint back in place and relieves the pain and pressure.

PLAN MUSEUM OF CIVIL WAR

Officials Ask That Pension
Building Be Made Receptacle for Exhibits.

Washington—Establishment of a Civil war museum in the Pension office building, the world's largest brick building in the court of which several inaugural balls have been held, probably will be authorized by congress soon after it meets in December.

The last survivor of the Revolutionary war was Daniel F. Bakeman, who died at Freedom, N. Y., April 5, 1860, aged one hundred and nine years and six months. The last widow pensioner of the war was Esther S. Damon of Plymouth Union, Vt., who died November 11, 1906, aged ninety-two years. The last survivor of the War of 1812 was Hiram Cronk of Ala. N. Y., who died May 13, 1905, aged one hundred and five years.

If history repeats itself, at least a quarter of a century will elapse before the chronicler of events will note the death of the last survivor of the Civil war, and the Twentieth century will be drawing to a close before the last widow pensioner will have passed away.

21,854 Veterans Die in Year.

In the last fiscal year 21,854 veterans of the Civil war and 21,296 widows of veterans were claimed by death. These figures give rise to many serious thoughts, the commissioner of pensions points out. What shall be done to preserve to future generations the history, traditions, lessons and inspiration of the wars, the intimate personal history of which is found in the 4,000,000 pension claims in the files of the pension bureau? In years to come, this bureau will be the mecca for thousands upon thousands seeking information concerning the men who fought in the Civil war.

By act of August 7, 1882, the congress made provision for the Pension building as a memorial to the men who bore the brunt of battle in war, and especially, in the Civil war. The corner stone was laid on March 19, 1883, and in May, 1885, the operations of the pension system were transferred to the new building. The exterior frieze of the building, showing a procession of soldiers and sailors of all branches of the service, was designed by Casper Buberl, and is indestructible evidence for all ages of the purposes for which the structure was authorized, designed, built and dedicated.

wealth of material that can be brought together for display within the pension building, showing the distinctive accouterments and implements of each of our wars; also models, paintings, bedrooms and relics. The pension bureau would thus become one of the attractions of the national capital.

Now that the ranks of our Civil war veterans are fast thinning, it is thought fitting that steps be taken to make the Pension office building a lasting museum of our nation's wars, from whose honored dead, as the martyred Lincoln voiced his thought in his Gettysburg address, "we take increased devotion to that cause for which they gave the last full measure of devotion; that we here highly resolve that these dead shall not have died in vain; that this nation, under God, shall have a new birth of freedom, and that government of the people, by the people and for the people, shall not perish from the earth."

Models Not Jazz Mad; Form Club to Prove It

New York—Fifth avenue models are not "jazz mad" and because they are not have founded the Fifth Avenue Models' association.

Dorothy M. Pensei, temporary chairman of the committee, sent out the announcement in notes on lavender paper in which she said the models intended "to get back at the people who are always making trouble for us."

She listed six reasons for forming the association, the reasons being:

"The sensational magazines place us in a false light.

"Marrying men think we are all jazz mad and gold diggers.

"We are home girls and just as respectable as other working girls.

"We don't marry millionaires.

"Modeling is no fun. It's hard work and we earn our wages.

"We want the public to know that we models are serious minded business girls."

And so another illusion is shattered.

City Submerged in 1642 Revealed by Lake's Fall

Geneva.—The remaining part of the ancient town of Antronapiano, submerged on July 27, 1642, by a flood of the River Antrona, has been revealed by the fall of the level of Lake Antrona and the subsequent dropping of the river.

The entire population of Antronapiano was wiped out and the town remained under ten feet of water. To day the roofs and upper floors of the houses emerged and visitors peering in can see the skeletons of the victims of three centuries ago.

Lake Lenan is the lowest in years and special landings have been constructed for steamboats as the water is too shallow to permit approaching the customary landings.

The first book printed in the English language was the work of William Caxton, who, in 1474, issued the "Recuyell of the Histories of Troy," a translation of Raoul de Fevre's work.

"How's the food here?" asked the new boarder at the dinner table. "Well, we have chicken every morning," said an old boarder. "Chicken every morning? How is it served?"

"In the shell."

"Yes, there must be a net underneath."

"Let's open that other bag of peanuts."

"Do you really love me?"

Naval Observatory Works Them Out After Study of Sun and Moon.

Washington.—Prolonged study of the vagaries of the sun and the moon has enabled scientists of the United States naval observatory here to work out their eclipses for the next three years. Under the direction of Capt. W. S. Elcheberger they now are starting on the 1929 eclipses.

An annular eclipse of the sun—an eclipse where the rim of the sun shows outside of the eclipsed area—is forecast for July 20-21, this year, but will be invisible in the United States. A partial eclipse of the moon is due August 4, being more or less visible in the eastern states, and wholly visible on the Pacific coast.

There will be no eclipses of the moon next year, but there will be a total eclipse of the sun on January 14, 1926. It will be visible only from Africa to the Indian ocean, and the naval observatory will send a party from here to Sumatra to observe it.

Eclipses Visible July 9-10, 1926.

An annular eclipse of the sun will be visible July 9-10, 1926, in the central Pacific ocean, and as a partial in northern Australia, the eastern edge of Asia, the United States and Mexico.

In 1927 there will be five eclipses—three of the sun and two of the moon. Seven eclipses in a year is the maximum, five of the sun and two of the moon, and the least number in a twelvemonth is two, both of the sun, as will be the case in 1928.

An annular solar eclipse, visible in the southern Pacific, will occur January 3, 1927. A total of the moon, June 15, will be visible in the Atlantic ocean, North America, except the northern border, South America and the Pacific ocean. A total of the sun, June 29, will be visible in Europe, appearing as a near-total at Nome, Alaska. Another total of the moon in 1927 will take place December 8, visible generally in the Pacific ocean and in the northern part of North America. A partial eclipse of the sun will occur on December 24.

Mercury Dot on Sun.
Another heavenly phenomenon will be seen in 1927 in the transit of Mercury, which will appear as a dot on the sun. On November 10 the transit will take place, visible generally in the Pacific ocean, Australia and Asia, except in the northern and western portions. It will be visible at Honolulu, Manila and Samoa.

In 1928 three of the sun and two of the moon will be the order of eclipses. Captain Elcheberger considers that the total solar eclipse of May 19 that year will be a curious one, only part of the resulting shadow falling on the earth, appearing as a piece on the south of Africa, and as a partial in South Africa and the southern part of South America.

A total of the moon, June 3, will be visible in the western parts of North and South America, the Pacific ocean, Australia and the eastern border of Asia. Partial solar eclipses will occur June 17 and November 12, a total of the moon transpiring November 27, visible in the western hemisphere.

Horses Cross Rockies on Improvised "Shoes"

Missoula, Mont.—Weather conditions in some parts of northern Montana, particularly in the mountain sections, make it necessary at times to resort to rather unusual efforts to circumvent nature's handicaps. An instance is the reported plan of G. S. Hinkle, superintendent of construction work on the Lolo pass road project, on the border between Montana and Idaho where the highway crosses the Rocky mountains.

With snow still two and a half feet deep and the beginning of the season's construction operations planned, Mr. Hinkle decided to send thirty horses over the mountains in snowshoes.

Boards about a foot square are fastened to the feet of the horses. These, Mr. Hinkle says, will be sufficient to support the animals' weight, and it is said they quickly learn to handle the unaccustomed footgear.

Fred Morrell, district forester for the northwestern area of Montana, says his men occasionally find it necessary to resort to the same expedient in crossing the summit of the range.

Desert Auto Transit Grows in Mesopotamia

Bagdad.—Tourists are showing an increasing fondness for traveling over the desert in automobiles. Various cross-desert services have recorded a total of 1,000,000 miles of transit.

Something of a mild motor boom is beginning in Bagdad. New hotels are going up, one English and one French, and better tourist business is confidently expected. Nevertheless, general business is far from satisfactory. Poverty among the working classes is acute in both town and country.

Since the opening of the desert line between Syria and Mesopotamia two routes have been followed by automobiles. In leaving Damascus, one follows a straight line through the desert to Bagdad, while the second route points slightly to the north to pass through Palmyra, the well-known historic site, which attracts thousands of tourists, and then comes direct to Bagdad.

WHY, WHEN AND WHERE OF FASHIONS

"Boys' Figure and Clothes."

When 2300 years ago, Aristotle ridiculed the suffragettes, he put them in men's clothes, to arouse opposition against them. That bit of boyish figure did not appeal to the masses any more than it did in our day to the New York Legislature.

Little girls were becoming more and more like boys, and the development of tailored styles, equal suffrage, and more general love for sports have finally made them what they are today.

mean only rascals. Such was logic with our forefathers.

Perhaps the first time that women could assume the boyish figure without censure was at the end of the XVIII century, when their riding habits were distinctly mannish.

"Anglaise." During the early Victorian era figures were boyishly slender, because women ate chalk and drank vinegar to look delicate, but something resembling mannishness in attire would have seemed too risky.

The development of tailored styles, equal suffrage, and more general love for sports have finally made them what they are today.

Speed Needed in Resuscitation

Noted Life Saver Advises Speed—Gives Proper Method For Reviving Victims of Water Accidents.

This is the seventh article giving life saving pointers with a view to lessening water casualties during coming summer. The eighth of the twelve articles in this series will appear tomorrow.

Lesson No. 7—Restoring to Consciousness.

(By Commodore W. E. Longfellow, Life Saving Expert, American National Red Cross.)

(Written for International News Service.)

Drowning is a form of asphyxiation. The submerged person, being unable to exhale and to take in fresh oxygen, is filled with dangerous gas. The expert bather is gagged when a few drops of water get into the windpipe. The epiglottis—the trap door muscle in the throat—has a spasm, and contracts, preventing the victim from exhaling, so that no fresh air is taken in. The heart keeps on pumping unpurified blood and the impure air in the lungs through the system.

The carbon-dioxide gas in the lungs causes poisoning, and the heart slows down so that no pulse is found and no heart-beat can be heard even with a stethoscope. Little or no water gets into the lungs even though the stomach is filled. The treatment for drowning is the same as for electrocution, smoke suffocation and asphyxiation.

Lay Face Downward.

The prone pressure method has restored persons after hours of work, even though they had been under water as much as half an hour.

Take the victim from the water. Lay him on the ground or floor in an airy place, face downward, with arms pulled higher than the level of the shoulders. Bend one of the person's forearms so that the mouth and nose rest on the back of the hand.

Quickly kneel astride the knees of the patient on both knees. This position gives you the best vantage point from which to watch the person's face.

Slide your hands down from the shoulders to the soft place at the waist line at the base of the floating ribs with the butts of the palms four to six inches apart.

Then with your elbows stiff sway your whole body forward from the knees as a fulcrum, so that the weight rests upon the lower ribs.

Keep Victim Warm.

At the moment of highest pressure upon the patient snap your hands to the sides and sit back on your heels. That gives the person a big breath artificially.

To allow the proper time for breathing as you press repeat the words: "Out goes the bad air," and as you rest say: "In comes the good."

This method of pressure and release repeated 12 to 15 times a minute gives more air to the patient's lungs than natural breathing.

Start at once! Don't give up!

Keep the patient warm while you work. Use blankets, hot water bottles, or heated bricks near the body of the patient. Ammonia under the nostrils occasionally will act on the heart. Liquid stimulants should not be given until the person can swallow, and then only in spoonful doses.

Use what you have to improve the condition of a suffocated person until the doctor arrives. Do not wait for anything before starting. Seconds mean lives.

Radio Helping Census Takers

Cooperating with Florence E. S. Knapp, Secretary of State practically every radio station of importance in the state of New York is broadcasting addresses relative to the census that is now being taken.

The radio talks that are being broadcast urge the public to cooperate with the small army of enumerators now engaged in listing the state's inhabitants and afford the listeners some very interesting data relative to the census. In order that these radio activities might prove a feature on the various broadcast programs, Mrs. Knapp has enlisted the services of Burr McIntosh, the well known actor and radio entertainer, and Dr. Edward S. Vanzile, one of the best known editorial writers in the country and a well known lecturer on national topics.

Mr. McIntosh who is known to radio fans the country over as "The Cheerful Philosopher" is urging the public to make the task of the enumerators easier while Dr. Vanzile is broadcasting some extremely interesting historical facts relative to this and other census years.

Mrs. Knapp will make at least one radio appearance during the course of the enumeration and Hon. Lafayette B. Gleason, Director of the State Census Bureau, will also talk from some of the broadcasting stations in New York.

Practically every radio station in the state has offered its services.

100 Marines Will Guard President

Physical Arrangement of Massachusetts House Where Mr. Will Spend Summer Makes Large Guard Necessary.

By Telegram to The Freeman

Washington, June 5.—A company of United States Marines, one hundred strong, will guard the life of President Coolidge during his occupancy of the summer White House at Swampscott, Mass., it was learned here today. Already the guard detail is being selected at the Marine Barracks at Quantico, Va., each man being picked for ability and physique.

The almost unprecedented action in sending an armed guard from the regular military establishment with the president was made necessary by the physical arrangement of "White Court" the estate upon which the Coolidge establishment will be maintained.

Of fair acreage, "White Court" faces upon a rocky and broken coast line. The estate is covered with trees and shrubbery, and although bounded by other private property, it has no enclosing wall of sufficient height to afford protection from malicious prowlers.

Careful survey of the grounds contained the United States secret service, in whose hands is entrusted the guarding of the president, that the usual White House detail of from 12 to 15 men could not possibly throw an adequate cordon around "White Court." To send enough additional men with Mr. Coolidge would be so expensive as to be almost out of question.

It was first decided to take the White House police force along to Massachusetts. Then it developed there was no appropriation which would permit such a wholesale movement.

The governor of Massachusetts next offered to place a number of his state police at the disposal of the president, but this was rejected because of a disinclination to take so many men from their regular posts.

Then the idea of the Marine guard was hit upon on the ground of economy.

The guard probably will be under the command of Lieutenant Edgar Allen Poe, commander of the Small Guard aboard the U. S. S. Mayflower.

It is so far as possible Marines who have seen service as legion guards will be selected.

Gibbons Will Win Decision

Says Walsh Who States That St. Paul Fighter Is a Harder Hitter and Faster Thinker—Expects Nothing Sensational in Bout.

(By Davis J. Walsh.)
By Telegram to The Freeman.
New York, June 5.—Tom Gibbons and Gene Tunney, a pair of well behaved young men with the instincts of a tamed monk and the innate courtesy of a head waiter, will step out for fifteen rounds at the Polo Grounds and out of the meeting, we are assured, will come the white challenger for Dempsey's heavy-weight title. I happen to think that Gibbons will win.

The business, however, should be no closer than a couple of fingers on the same hand. One cannot go behind facts any more than one can go behind his own hip-pocket and the fact in this case is that, unless either or both of the principals forget their lines, the bout will shape up in this unassuming manner:

Gibbons, a man waiting to counter Tunney, a man who won't lead.

Everything possible has been done, however, to take the curse off that equation. The men will weigh in at the boxing commission offices, where hitherto only the principals in championship meetings were so honored. This ceremony will take place at 2 o'clock this afternoon and means less than nothing, since weight making neither will be necessary nor expedient. It is probable that both of the young men will scale in the vicinity of 185 pounds, just over the border line of the heavyweight division.

To make the business look all the more official, Jack Dempsey has weighed in with his customary offer to meet the winner and it probably will be read from the ringside just as blandly as it was when Luis Firpo met Harry Wills. Anyone with the olfactory senses reasonably developed can detect the burning embers of the good, old smoke-up there. And, lest we forget there was the vivid picture drawn of Tunney sulking about his camp at White Sulphur Springs, N. Y., and coming to town late yesterday with his lips drawn back to the bicuspid.

Tunney is one of those individuals who soars with all the nasty emphasis of the family mare.
Gibbons also threw off a few sparks for the benefit of the writer, relieving himself of the declaration that he meant to get Tunney and get him as early as possible. If the twentieth amendment were passed, making it a penal offense for a writer to doubt any one, he would string along with Gibbons.

Until the law becomes effective, however, I don't believe anything will happen tonight except that Gibbons will get the decision at the end of 15 rounds. He may be nine years Tunney's inferior in age and almost as many in ring side service but he has two abiding factors in his favor: He hits the harder punch and he thinks the faster thought. He will out-smart Tunney even if he doesn't out-step him.

Chappie's Stars Bump Colonials

Winning Streak of Locals Busted Thursday at Amsterdam—Second Game of Series Here on Saturday.

The Colonials' winning streak was broken Thursday at Amsterdam when the Chappie Johnson's All Stars gave them a licking 11 to 4.

The game started off like a contest at a groceryman's picnic. In the first frame the colored team put across four runs and in the second and third three runs each. While Chappie's Stars were making merry on the bases in these three innings the Robins-Deegan outfit brought in three runs. In the remaining innings one run was scored by each team.

Hank Wicker started on the mound for the locals and started very poorly. In the first inning he issued six bases on balls and when he finally found out where he was supposed to throw them his offerings were hit rather freely. He was sent to the showers following the second.

Eddie Baker, a local boy, replaced Wild Wicker, and in his first inning on the mound, the third, was slammed rather hard. After his first inning in fast semi-pro ball, Baker did good and promises to rank high after due process of learning his baseball A. B. C.'s.

McDermott was the best hitter for the Colonials making a triple and a double. The locals made eight hits and the winners twice that number.

Game Here Saturday.
The second game of the series will be played Saturday afternoon at the Fair Grounds, between the Colonials and the Johnson All Stars.

ALL STARS PLAY AT MARGARETVILLE SATURDAY

Saturday the All Stars will try to take a fall out of the fast Margaretville club. The mountain boys have a very good club this season and have not lost a game. Cranan or Volker will twirl with Snoddes receiving. The All Stars will be idle Sunday due to Millbrook calling their game off at a late date. The management finds it impossible to get a game in so short a time. However, next Sunday will find them at Maybrook where they will clash with that fast club.

THE FREEMAN PLAYS SCHILLINGS TONIGHT

This evening, at 6:30 o'clock, at the Athletic Field the Schilling Furniture Company will meet the Freeman Publishing Company in an Industrial League baseball contest. Both teams are sure to capture the honors and a very interesting game should be the result.

The furniture makers will start Williams or Connolly in the box with Dizek behind the rubber. The printers will probably give Taylor or Dittus the pitching assignment with Uhl on the receiving end.

Chamber Drive to End Next Week

Torrid Weather Does Not Affect Enthusiasm of Workers But Makes Extension of Time Necessary.

Notwithstanding the torrid heat the Chamber of Commerce campaign workers turned in fifty-four new applications today, rolling up a grand total of 484 members to date, without the large subscriptions expected.

Today's meeting was so filled with enthusiasm that it is expected that the goal that has been set will be reached before the campaign closes. Harry Lazarus of Team No. 9 moved that the drive continue until some time next week, and that the team workers be allowed to work in their own way to obtain new subscriptions. The motion was promptly seconded by several team workers and unanimously adopted.

It was decided to continue the drive and report results at a joint meeting with the Kiwanis Club next Thursday at noon. Each worker pledged himself to obtain at least one new application and Roy Sutcliffe of Team No. 2 pledged his team to obtain ten. This was promptly challenged by Arthur Burns of Team No. 1 and Ben Siskind of Team No. 4. These three teams have obtained 28, 24 and 25 new members respectively during the four days of the campaign.

The meeting was by far the most encouraging of the campaign and showed that the men of Kingston are determined to give the city a worthwhile organization.

Financial and Commercial

By Telegraph to The Freeman.

New York, June 5.—After reaching a lower level of prices in dull and irregular trading today, most of the active stocks encountered a better buying demand and good rallies were in progress.

Professionals whip-sawed the market backward and forward until well past the noon period with the bears in control of all but the oil and a few of the specialty and motor stocks. American Can, Baldwin and other industrial leaders declined from 1 to 4 points on fairly active trading, which was generally without effect on the rank and file of industrial and railroad shares.

Wiltwyck Chapter Annual Meeting of honor, our state regent, Mrs. Nash.

In July, a large party of Vassar alumnae, who were attending a conference in Poughkeepsie, motored to Kingston to visit our historic buildings. They much appreciated being shown the treasures of our Old Stone House.

On September 17, the D. A. R. observed Constitution Day. The downstairs of our chapter house was decorated with autumnal foliage, and the meeting room and reception room were filled to capacity to enjoy the program.

Mrs. Kenyon told of the quaint and interesting way in which Constitution Day used to be celebrated by Wiltwyck Chapter years ago.

Mrs. Benjamin Johnston, accompanied by Mr. Fredericburgh, favored us with delightful songs; and then our guest of honor, the state historian of the D. A. R., Mrs. Alton B. Parker, was presented by the regent. She told of the purchase of Sulgrave Manor, the home of the early forebears of George Washington. The Society of Colonial Dames started a campaign to raise $100,000 for Sulgrave, and they more than raised that amount. Frances H. King of New York, presented a sum of $1,500. The income from which will be used in providing an American flag to be flown daily from the masthead of Sulgrave.

After telling us of her visit to Sulgrave, Mrs. Parker read a paper which had been written for some special occasion by her husband, Judge Parker, on "The Constitution of the United States." It is a masterpiece of literature and patriotism worthy of preservation for all time. Mrs. Parker has all the grace, and tact, and ready responsiveness, that the wife of a distinguished man should have, and we found it a genuine pleasure to have her for a guest.

In October we commenced our programs of local history, which have been continued throughout the year. The first was given by Mr. Boeve on "The First Church." This was afterward printed by the Aid Society of the First Church, and copies may still be obtained from them.

By means of a card party on October 23rd we raised $100 with which to purchase kitchen equipment.

The November meeting found us to hold our annual memorial service in front of the First Dutch Church. The morning was rainy, so it was held in the chapel. But there were compensations because we could hear every word of each speech, and the speeches were all fine. H. S. Jennings represented the Civil War veterans, Admiral Higginson the navy, Judge Joseph Fowler the Spanish War veterans and George W. Potter the American Legion. Mrs. Benjamin Johnston sang the Battle Hymn of the Republic assisted by the choir of the church and the choir and a three piece band led the singing of the hymns, and the national anthem.

The closing speech on "Patriotism and the Church" was given by Mr. Boeve. After the service it had stopped raining, and a few D. A. R. members attended to

We voted to place a copy of the History of New York State D. A. R. in the Kingston Public Library. But we finally suspended business to listen to a very interesting account of the First Senate, by Mr. DeWitt.

When our state regent, Mrs. Frances Tupper Nash, came to town on the 7th of November, we had all kinds of meetings. She met with the Hudson Valley Chapter officers, a luncheon was given to her at the Hotel Stuyvesant, and Wiltwyck Chapter held a special meeting in order that she might speak to us.

She went into detail when telling about our work at Ellis Island. The "Manual of Information," which the D. A. R. supplies to immigrants, is filling a real need. The Cunard Line wishes thousands of copies of it. Also the teaching of handicraft work to the women in the detention room—sewing, embroidery and knitting—has been of such help, that the commissioner wishes the D. A. R. to do similar work of some sort for the men. Mrs. Nash gave us a warning about the new Child Labor Law and said the underlying idea of it was decidedly socialistic. The amendment was drawn up by Florence Kelly—a radical leader and wife of a Russian Bolshevik. Miss Greta Linkletter sang for us. She was accompanied by Mrs. William Elting.

In December the old Tappan sideboard came back to the "Old Stone House." Its original home. It has been loaned us by J. Rudolph Tappan. At the December meeting Everett Fowler spoke on "The Founding and Early Development of Kingston," and exhibited a good many of his wonderful collection of photographs of old Kingston houses. Later he presented our Chapter with his book on the development of our city.

Our January meeting was held on New Year's Day, and although it was a holiday we had a fairly good attendance. Mrs. Bogart reported that a nice donation bag had been sent to the Crossnor School in North Carolina. The school which started in a barn, has grown to a two-story graded school.

Dr. M. J. Michael gave us an entertaining and valuable talk on the "First School in Kingston" at our February meeting. He said that to the Dutch belongs the honor of instituting the first free school system. The first demand for a high school in Kingston, did not come until 1860. Four years later the old Kingston Academy came into existence—also the "Vassar Academy."

During the business session of the February meeting we voted to give $5.00 to the Philippine Scholarship Fund; also $5.00 to the local Salvation Army.

During the month of February a good many daughters were busy with rehearsals, and the Saturday before Washington's birthday, we presented a pageant, "Kennore," which was written on purpose for the occasion, by our own Mrs. Wood. The scene was laid at Kennore, the home of Betty Washington, and portrayed the home-coming of George Washington, his courtship of Martha Cordis, and a garden party at the famous old home. It closed with the song, "Kennore Now is Ours," for that very valuable and historic place was purchased by the D. A. R. this year, for the sum of $20,000. One paper stated it as $28,000.

The pageant was so enthusiastically received, that it was repeated March 4th in the chapel of the First Dutch Church, under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of the church. Our share of the proceeds was raised to $50 and was forwarded to Kennore, which donation has made Wiltwyck Chapter a hereditary life member of the Kennore Association.

At the March meeting, we were invited to attend meetings in the interest of good government, to be held at the Y. W. C. A. A vote of thanks was given Mrs. A. A. Snyder of Kyserike, for the huge and delicious birthday cake which she made and gave us, for the Washington Birthday celebration. Mrs. Fessenden gave the paper of the day, which was on "Famous Men and Women of Early Kingston." Mrs. A. H. Van Buren, who for years has been our faithful "standby" at the piano, played a medley of old time songs.

At the next meeting, April, we were told about the "Foreign Born Residents of Kingston." Principal Cullen spoke of our Dutch founders, and then of what the Germans added to our town—a willingness to work, saving habits, establishment of little home with gardens, respect for law, and a firm religious faith. He dwelt at greatest length on the contributions of the Irish, and then told what some of our fine Jews have done, with their initiative, ability, and love of learning. He also mentioned contributions to our civic betterment, by English, Poles and Italians.

The 34th Continental Congress of D. A. R. was held in Washington April 20-25, 1925. Wiltwyck was represented by the regent, a delegate, and four alternates. Continental Hall was found too small for the meetings in 1924, so this year they were held in the new Washington Auditorium. Plans were submitted for building a new $2,000,000 auditorium, to be of white marble and of Colonial design.

At the regular May meeting we heard most interesting reports of the Washington Congress given by Mrs. Lewis and Mrs. Boice.

A special May meeting was held for the annual election of officers, and the following were appointed:

Regent, Mrs. T. D. Lewis; first vice-regent, Mrs. J. A. McCommons; second vice-regent, Mrs. William C. Kingman; recording secretary, Mrs. W. R. Anderson, corresponding secretary, Mrs. G. U. Wood; treasurer, Mrs. E. O. Allen; registrar, Mrs. James Scott; historian, Mrs. M. F. Childester. Local board—Mrs. H. Van Hoevenburgh, Mrs. Bruyn Hasbrouck, Miss Minnie Millard, Mrs. W. U. Fessenden.

Sunday, May 24th, we had planned to hold our annual memorial service in front of the First Dutch Church. The morning was rainy, so it was held in the chapel. But there were compensations because we could hear every word of each speech, and the speeches were all fine. H. S. Jennings represented the Civil War veterans, Admiral Higginson the navy, Judge Joseph Fowler the Spanish War veterans and George W. Potter the American Legion. Mrs. Benjamin Johnston sang the Battle Hymn of the Republic assisted by the choir of the church and the choir and a three piece band led the singing of the hymns, and the national anthem.

The closing speech on "Patriotism and the Church" was given by Mr. Boeve. After the service it had stopped raining, and a few D. A. R. members attended to the decoration of the graves. The grass was too wet for the children. During the year our chapter has lost three loyal members—Mrs. Michael, Mrs. Sahler and now Mrs. Ryder. Thirteen new members have been received.

Each naturalized citizen has received a flag and letter from us. Besides the pamphlets already mentioned and the book by Everett Fowler, we have received many lovely gifts during the year.

There were two grandfather's clocks from the Sleight family. The one from Mrs. Katherine Sleight Starkoy has been put in order and is now standing in our downstairs hall. The other, from Mrs. Sleight Bishop, has not yet arrived. From the Sharpe family we received a bronze plaque of Washington, Lincoln, and Grant, a bust of Washington which is on a pedestal, and the loan of a Spanish flag and Mauser rifle from General Henry Sharpe.

From DeWitt Roosa's estate we received a shield bearing the D. A. R. escutcheon, a bronze miniature of General Sharpe, a centennial half dollar of the New Paltz centennial celebration, and about fifteen pictures.

Mrs. Westley Ellis gave us two handsome hand-painted candles. The Chapter representatives who attended the 34th Congress at Washington, brought us a gift of a framed portrait of George Washington, a reproduction of the one by Rembrandt-Peale which has been purchased by the National Society for Continental Hall.

We certainly owe a very sincere and appreciative vote of thanks to the men who have assisted us with our local history programs, this year, and talked to us about their specialties. They have, in each and every instance, given their services without compensation, and given them gladly, and they have all presented their subjects in most thorough and interesting form.

We also thank our hostesses for the beautiful and dainty refreshments, which they have never failed to provide.

In closing I wish to mention two things of national historic importance. First, the site of Battle Creek, in Wilkes County, Georgia, known as "War Hill," has been purchased by the D. A. R. to be preserved as a shrine.

Secondly, the formal dedication of "Kennore" was held on May 9th, 1925. On that day, Fredericksburg declared a holiday, railroads gave excursion rates for the week-end, and when the hotels were overflowing the residents of the town opened their doors for the accommodation of visitors. There was a costume parade of school children, with prizes for the best Colonial costumes, and after the dedication and festivities on Kennore Green, there was a wonderful parade of floats and old fashioned vehicles carrying the famous people of old, including two carriages full of Washingtons, among whom were represented Mrs. Betty Washington Lewis and Colonel Lewis.

Observe Flag Day.

In addition to the reports a vote of thanks was given the city newspapers and it was voted to observe Flag Day as requested, when the date shall be announced. It was further voted not to observe Constitution Day on the day itself, but to set aside some day in the year's program especially to a consideration of the Constitution of the United States.

When the business of the day had been transacted, Mrs. Van Hoevenberg, the retiring regent, presented the gavel to her successor, speaking feelingly of the cooperation she had had during her administration from all committee chairmen and their committees. Her slogan had been, "In unity there is strength," and it was shown by the day's reports that much had been accomplished by the unified efforts of the Chapter during the past year. Following a custom of the Chapter, Mrs. Van Hoevenberg presented the Chapter with a gift, through its new regent, Mrs. T. D. Lewis. The gift was a beautiful gold and blue enamel pin, holding the ribbon pendant of the Chapter. This pin will be passed from regent to succeeding regent, and will be worn on all suitable occasions.

In accepting both the gavel and the pin, Mrs. Lewis graciously expressed her sincere appreciation of the honor conferred upon her by the Chapter in choosing her as their regent. Calling to mind the splendid women who had preceded her, Mrs. Lewis said she feared that she would fail to measure up to their achievements, but supported by the cooperation of all Chapter members and the loyal support of the committee chairmen, she hoped with "Service" as their watchword, the Chapter would continue to accomplish much of good in the community and in its position in the state and nation. She thanked Mrs. Van Hoevenberg for the honor of first wearing the regent pin, and called for a rising vote of thanks from those present to Mrs. Van Hoevenberg for her generous gift to the Chapter, the vote being given with alacrity.

Mrs. Lewis then announced her committees for the coming year.

New Coins Tribute To Soldiers

Minted by United States Government and Will Be Released on July 3—Bank Has Certificates Redeemable in New Loans.

An announcement that the first consignment of Confederate Memorial Half Dollars, minted by the United States Government as a "tribute to the valor of the Soldier of the South," which are to be simultaneously released throughout the nation on July 3rd, has been received by the First National Bank of Rondout.

Citizens of Kingston now have the opportunity of making sure of obtaining some of these coveted Memorial coins on their national distribution July 3rd, by immediately purchasing coin certificates, redeemable for the actual half dollars on July 3rd, at $1.00 each.

As less than two million of the Memorial coins are available to the entire South at this time, the Southern Bankers' Committee, arranging details of their distribution, has allocated only a limited number to each city and county in the various Southern states. Once these quotas are exhausted no further coins are obtainable.

The issuance of these commemorative coins by the National Government is an event of the greatest significance to the South. It is a gesture of friendliness on the part of the nation to which the South will spontaneously respond.

Not only do these coins have a high sentimental value through this national recognition of our Southern heroes, but they also possess an additional worth since the modest premium at which the coins are sold goes to the completion of the great monument to the Confederacy being carved at Stone Mountain, Georgia.

Your Health By ANDREW F. CURRIER, M.D.

ECZEMA IN INFANTS

THIS disease has different degrees of severity and may even be associated with conditions which end fatally, but that is not the usual result.

Any kind of a baby fat or lean, plump or emaciated, may have it, but it seems to have a preference to those who have cutaneous troubles, who are scrofulous, as it is used to be called, or who have rickets, indigestion, anemia or fever of various kinds.

The disease may occur at any period of infancy, before or after weaning, and the pain and soreness of teething doubtless aggravates it in many cases.

There is probably a germ which causes it, at least in some cases, and it may be associated with the itch and with vermin of different species. It also has a relation to filthiness and neglect of the nose, ears and eyes and with the irritating saliva of a dirty mouth.

Other causes are constipation, indigestion, prolonged exposure to the sun's rays or to the heat of a badly ventilated room.

Then an eruption appears on the entire body, on the face and scalp, or on the scalp alone.

At first this eruption is composed of red dots or points; in a few days they contain a fluid, and a little later the fluid becomes purulent, the points of the eruption run together, and we soon have a number of crusts or scabs, or perhaps a sheet of scabs covering the entire scalp.

The itching is continuous night and day, and there is constant scratching or rubbing the scalp.

Infectious material is carried by the nails and fingers and before long the eyes, nose, mouth and ears and other parts of the body are sore as a result of this transmission.

In treating such a case, select, if possible, a doctor who is familiar with the diseases of infants and children.

These few suggestions may also prove serviceable. Cut the baby's nails to prevent scratching, cut the hair; wash out the perium daily, and protect the head and face with a thin muslin cap or bonnet.

Apply neither hot or cold water to the scalp, and keep the eruption covered with a dusting powder of boracic acid, zinc, or starch.

When the scabs loosen, remove them cautiously and apply a muddy antiseptic ointment, removing it and reapplying daily.

Find, by experiment and your doctor's help, the kind of food which will suit the child, and give a mild tonic to brace up the general condition.

Schubert Club Concert Tonight

Much interest is being manifested in the appearance here of Miss Winifred Marshall, soprano, who is one of the soloists to be presented by the Schubert Choral Club at their concert this evening at 8:19 o'clock at the High School Auditorium. Miss Marshall appeared in Kingston about five years ago, singing a varied program in costume, as is her custom, and those who heard her are pleased at the opportunity to again have her here.

Miss Marshall will sing an aria from "Faust," a group of children's songs, and she and the tenor soloist, Harold Hansen, will give the duet from "Rigoletto."

Mr. Hansen is also a most pleasing singer and in addition to singing a group of American songs, will give an aria from "Marta." During the past season he has been singing the role of "Mozart" in the opera "The Impresario."

The club composed of seventy-five local young women, under the direction of Miss Virginia Los Kamp, will give several chorus numbers. The organization is now closing its second season and has been doing some very splendid work.

The proceeds of the concert will be used for the educational work of the Y. W. C. A.

FIRE PREVENTION.

Question—When a frame building burns down, what is left? Answer—The chimney alone, because it is built of brick. Chimneys are built of brick because they are fireproof. Why not construct the whole building of brick, that is Real Fire Prevention. An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure. When you build, use brick exclusively. There may be a slight increase in first cost, but always a large saving in maintenance. Building brick and sand. TERRY BROTHERS CO. Tel. 1674.

Important Games Over Week End

The Colonials Play Johnson All Stars on Saturday and the Poughkeepsie Red Sox on Sunday.

Two games of importance to the Colonials are scheduled for the week end. Saturday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock at the Kingston Fair Grounds Chapple Johnson's All Stars will be present. Chapple's broad smile, which was very evident yesterday at Amsterdam will accompany the team to Kingston but the Robins-Deegan combination expect to erase the smile before the nine innings are played. The Colonials must win the Saturday afternoon game to even up for the defeat which they received in Chapple's home town. Rivalry between the Colonials and the All Stars always runs high but the defeat at Amsterdam was too much for the local boys and Saturday's game is expected to be one of the bitterest fought contests scheduled. The 11 to 4 defeat handed out by the colored players Thursday was a sad setback for the locals after a long run of wins.

Clyde Russell or Mike Morgan will probably get the assignment for Saturday afternoon and both are ready for the battle. Chapple's one great ambition in life is to win a series from the fast traveling Colonials and with the entering wedge already driven home Chapple can be depended on to put up a stiff fight for Saturday's game.

The second important contest of the week end is with the Poughkeepsie Red Sox Sunday afternoon, at 3:30 o'clock. The Red Sox also are desirous of putting one over on the local club which up to the present time they have been unable to. The Colonials took the opening game of the season from the Red Sox at Poughkeepsie and are confident they can duplicate the feat on their home grounds.

The Red Sox will invade the Fair Grounds Sunday with one purpose in view, that of evening up for the defeat on their own field and also evening up the series. If the Colonials can add one more game to their credit against the Bridge City team they will have a decided edge on the down river ball club which will be hard to overcome. Realizing this the Red Sox undoubtedly will come up ready to make a clean-up.
